

GET NEW BLOOD IN APRIL.

The Body a Machine that Cannot be Stopped for Repairs—Paine's Celery Compound Feeds its Shattered Nerves, Purifies the Blood, Makes Refreshing Sleep Possible.

March winds and April showers sweep and scour the earth and clear the air of winter impurities, making it sweet and wholesome.

The same thing takes place in the body, the pores open and the blood that creeps in winter now rushes through the arteries in a fuller, stronger stream.

Now is the great season of purification, of new life, new hope, new ambition. It is the best time to get well. Spring is hopeful, and the invalid gets well quicker when hopeful than when despondent.

Thousands of people throughout the country are this month taking Paine's celery compound—the great spring medicine that makes people well.

"What March does not kill may be done for April," says an old adage. The nine weeks from Feb. 1 to May 1 develop the hidden germs of disease inside the body and without. For health's sake back yards, cellars, and the dark closets and corners must be cleaned out, and for health's sake every one needs to take a spring medicine like Paine's celery compound; years have shown the wisdom of doing it.

April has always been set down as the best time to remove impurities from the blood and to regulate the nervous system.

The formula of Paine's celery compound was given to the world by Edward E. Phelps, M. D., L. L. D., while he was still active professor in the Dartmouth medical school. A remarkable nerve food and blood purifier, it is the most valuable contribution to the world's progress that American college influence has sent forth.

Its power of restoring lives of countless men and women from feebleness and despair to strength and usefulness is known in every part of the country. It has added years of active, joyous existence to thousands of weak, tired-out, ailing women who thought themselves doomed to be invalids for the rest of their days.

Paine's celery compound cures thoroughly and finally rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, diseases of heart, liver, and kidneys, and every form of nervous weakness. It cures as nature cures, by feeding the vital inmost parts of the body, the blood, and nerves.

All the parts of the body are adjusted with the greatest nicety, and a derangement of one affects the whole. We cannot stop this complicated mechanism for repairs, because we do not know the secret that would set it going again. The repairs must be made when it is in motion.

It is in sleep that the machine goes slowly, the heart beats less rapidly, the blood circulates less quickly, the nerves rest, the muscles relax, and each gains vigor in the only way it can—by sleep and rest. Paine's celery compound quiets and regulates the nerves by supplying the material for their repair, and the tired, exhausted man and woman, on the verge of breaking down, gets sleep and the means of recovering health and strength.

All over the country Paine's celery compound is convincing overworked business men, anxious housekeepers, women behind counters and in offices, school teachers, and all who use their brains excessively, that the unqualified praise from physicians and others, who are careful of what they say, is none too strong for this great remedy that is making so many well and strong.

SANDOW INTERVIEWED

A "Journal" Reporter Talks to the Strong Man.

HE LIKES AMERICA AND AMERICANS.

How He Came to "Star" as a Muscular Genius—An Interesting Talk.

Eugene Sandow, mention of whose passage through Topeka on the California train was made in last evening's JOURNAL, was seen by a JOURNAL reporter in his private car for a few moments as it stopped at the Santa Fe depot. Mr. Sandow and his party of twelve were on their way from Chicago to San Francisco where they will play an engagement at the midwinter fair. They carry a special baggage car filled with stage apparatus and horses which they use in their exhibitions.

As the reporter entered the car Mr. Sandow, dressed in a grey sweater and a slouch hat, was engaged in watching the throng at the depot platform, which would probably have been crowded if there had been any indication of the presence of so famous a personage.

A very pleasant gentleman is this latter day Sampson, with his blonde hair and blue eyes and prominent muscles, which stand out plainly visible in spite of his apparel.

"I am glad to see you," he said in very broken English, to the newspaper man as he smilingly extended his great right hand, which the reporter took doubtfully, expecting it would crush him, but the grip was barely firm: "I am always glad to see newspaper men; they are my friends, and to them I owe my fame."

"Ask me any question you like," he added, "I shall be pleased to answer."

"To what do you attribute your astonishing strength, Mr. Sandow?"

"To a knowledge of physical possibilities and a studious regard of solid health rules. I was not particularly strong as a boy, any had no idea of ever being what you people call me, a Sampson, until I was well in my teens. My father, who was a German peasant, took me to Venice and Rome once and I saw there some statues of Hercules and other wonders of ancient mythology, and I asked my father why there were no men like them today. He replied that such things did not so much occupy the public mind now as formerly. I thought I saw my chance."

"Here was an unfulfilled field, and I made up my mind to try it in the interest of science. You behold the result," and he arose, marched over to a member of his company and with one hand lifted him easily from the floor for a moment and smilingly placed him in a seat. The man must have weighed 170 pounds.

"How do you manage to exercise while traveling?" asked the reporter as he edged away to a respectful distance.

"I exercise in half so much as you, probably. After my performances I take a cold shower bath and am rubbed down."

I eat and drink what I please and have done so all of my thirty years. I think it has never hurt me to follow nature.

"Yes, I like America and Americans. I have been well treated here and shall stay some months yet. I would like to make America my home."

"You never feel a desire to enter the prize ring, do you, Mr. Sandow?" the reporter asked hurriedly as the bell rang. "I am not a brute," replied the strong man smiling.

LITTLE BOYS' BONANZA.

They Started a "Drive in Gloves" But the Police Ended It.

Two little boys were playing in the alley back of Sharum's dry goods store at 515 Kansas avenue this week and found an old bag containing several boxes. They asked A. H. Sharum for them and he gave his consent.

The boys took the boxes and found that they contained kid gloves, each box containing two dozen pair. The boys at once began selling the gloves for ten cents a pair, or three for twenty-five cents. When the police learned of the great cheap glove sale they arrested the boys and took them before Mr. Sharum. He corroborated their story and they were released, but made to return all the gloves they had left.

April Ads. Bring May "Seeds"

To landlords whose ads. for tenants are sent to a newspaper that the people read. Those who trust to a house bill or a paper with little circulation are invariably left to waddle out of a flood of financial difficulties as best they may. A large number of house-hunters is on the move this present month whose line of march is formed from the house-to-rent columns of the STATE JOURNAL. A line or two in those columns will signal it your way. Can you afford to miss it?

Miss Jennie Hensley, the crippled daughter of George Hensley of Meriden, accompanied by her sister Miss Ruth, drove into the city yesterday in a spring wagon. While her sister was calling on some friends, Miss Jennie started to drive across the river. When near the Union Pacific depot, the horses became frightened at the cars, whirled around and ran north on Kansas avenue at a fearful rate of speed. Miss Hensley has grown up on a farm and her experience in driving enabled her to hold the team in the middle of the street most of the time. The only collision was with Otto Huckstadt's buggy which was sadly wrecked. Caleb Barker who drives the sprinkler for C. C. Nicholson, saw the runaway coming and at the risk of his life, seized the horses by the bits and stopped them. The only damage done in the whole affair was to Huckstadt's buggy.

WANT ARRESTS MADE.

Crookedness Under the Last Republican Administration.

CHARGED BY LITTLE AND GAINES.

Money Obtained Under False Pretenses On Warrants Drawn on the Permanent School Fund in Favor of N. D. McGinley.

More crookedness has been discovered in the records of the state school fund commissioners, but the latest discovery dates back to the last Republican administration. Money was obtained under false pretenses on warrants drawn on the permanent school fund in favor of N. D. McGinley.

Attorney General Little and State Superintendent of Instruction H. N. Gaines this forenoon visited the office of County Attorney Safford and asked him to issue a complaint for the arrest of ex-Superintendent of Instruction Geo. W. Winans, ex-Attorney General L. B. Kellogg and ex-Secretary of State Wm. Higgins.

Superintendent Gaines and General Little had discovered that during the administration of their predecessors three warrants had been drawn on the state school fund in favor of N. D. McGinley, and were signed by the school fund commissioners, by which McGinley drew $1,650 from the school fund, for which there is no record of value received.

The first of these warrants was for $500 and was drawn July 24, 1890, and on its face was charged up to School district No. 29 of Crawford county.

The third warrant was for $500 and was drawn November 11, 1890, and on its face was charged to School district No. 12 of Logan county.

While there was nothing put on record to show what these warrants were for, the records at the state treasurer's office show that on August 5, 1892, George Winans paid into the state school fund $650, and again on December 7th, he paid into the same fund $1,000.

This money paid in by Winans was the total amount drawn on the three warrants in favor of N. D. McGinley, and saved the state to all loss although County Attorney Safford said when the matter was laid before him this morning that it was clearly a case of obtaining money under false pretenses.

McGinley, who was bond clerk in the office of the superintendent of public instruction at that time, had the warrants cashed at the United States Savings bank as is shown by the indorsement on the back of the warrants.

County Attorney Safford called the attention of General and Superintendent Gaines to the fact that the drawing of these warrants was known to the officials at the state house at the time or soon thereafter, and on that account the statute of limitations would prevent a criminal prosecution.

Attorney General Little said he was not so sure about the statute of limitations, but said he would look the matter up.

LOCAL MENTION.

Assistant State Bank Examiner Waterman is at Ottawa.

There are 775 patients confined at the state insane asylum.

The new money order schedule will go into effect at all postoffices July 1st.

The Kansas river rose thirty inches after the rain but has now fallen again.

There are twenty-eight inmates in the North Topeka insane asylum and hospital.

D. E. Caruther's wife and daughter Nannie are both confined at their home by sickness.

The next regular musical recital at Bethany will occur two weeks from tomorrow evening.

The Veterans' league now has a membership of over 100. J. T. Fulton is president, and J. C. Stuart, secretary.

The use of butterine was discontinued on March 1st at the state insane asylum, and now fresh country butter is furnished.

Rev. James Lawrence, of Wichita, will address the Christian Endeavorers of the city this evening at the Baptist church.

Last night Sergeant Dagg made a "round up" on the local side, taking in the Union Pacific yards, the Junction and Redmondville.

Two dresses and four pairs of shoes were destroyed by the fire in Dr. Eva Harding's office Wednesday evening. They were insured.

C. P. Bolmar of Potwin is on the streets after the accident which resulted in a broken arm and sprained shoulder. His arm is in a sling.

Police Commissioner Oscar Kraus entertained Governor Lowelling and about twenty other friends last night at his home, 318 Van Buren street.

W. C. Campbell's dialect sketch, "Formerly of Kansas," which he read this afternoon at Washburn, is said to be an especially good production.

At the Veterans' league meeting last evening at Lincoln Post hall, addresses were made by P. B. Conroy, E. K. Rodgers, D. C. Tillotson and J. E. Waters.

The state school fund commissioners have asked the county commissioners to furnish them with a transcript of the record of the court house bond election, showing the legality of the bonds.

The Washburn College Glee club might be induced to sing a few of their original selections into the phonograph of the state historical society for the amusement of future generations.

Gov. Lowelling has delivered his inaugural address into a phonograph for preservation. Arrangements will probably be made for preservation of other utterances of ex-governors and United States senators under direction of the state historical society.

Mrs. Laura M. Johns, Mrs. Bina A. Otis and Mrs. S. A. Thurston have signed a circular addressed to the suffragists of Kansas asking them to attend their county conventions and urge the adoption of a suffrage plank in the resolutions.

The Swedish concert at the First M. E. church will be both vocal and instrumental. Admission 25 cents.
